The Advisor’s Toolkit to Study Abroad

Date: Monday July 18, 2022 | Time 2:00 PM - 3:00 PM
Location: Virtual - Zoom link will be sent to registered guests.
Registration link: HERE

Presenters: Sarah Vatch (Study Abroad Advisor), Kelly O'Sullivan Sommer (Director of Study Abroad, UC San Diego), Jay Minert (Director, Outreach & Academic Engagement)

Description: UCEAP, OAP, Global Seminars, Global Exchange,—do you have questions when students ask you about studying abroad? All advisors are welcome to attend this informative and interactive workshop where we will clarify what all those programs mean, talk about the advantages of studying abroad, perceived barriers, and how you can help students jump over them; devise communication and advising strategies to help encourage your students to go abroad, and share many more resources with you to carry in your "toolkit".

Working Together for Transfer: Panel and Discussion

Date: Thursday, July 21, 2022 | Time 2:00 PM - 3:00 PM
Location: Virtual - Zoom link will be sent to registered guests.
Registration link: HERE

Presenters: Jackie Duerr, Ariana Huesias, and a transfer student panel

Description: We all know how crucial advising is to the transfer student experience. Let's hear it from the students themselves. During this hour, we will invite the student team within the Transfer Hub to share the impacts of advising within their transfer experience. Afterward, we will take some time to dialogue and strategize together as Advising and the Transfer Hub, finding opportunities for collaboration for this next year and beyond.

Disrupting the Deficit with Latinx Cultural Wealth

Date: Wednesday, August 3, 2022 | Time 2:00 PM - 3:00 PM

Location: Virtual - Zoom link will be sent to registered guests.

Registration link: HERE

Presenters: Stephanie Pineda (Senior Academic Advisor, Seventh College)

Description: It is no secret that the Latinx population is one of the largest minority populations in the country, and is expected to exponentially increase throughout the next few years.

At this time, we know that about 19.5 percent of the total number of undergraduate students are Hispanic and Latinx undergraduates yet the graduation rate of Latinx students at four-year institutions continues to be 12% lower when compared to the graduation rates of White non-Hispanic students in the United States.

And while there are a lot of initiatives and hopes to support these students by institutions, we also know that Latinx students are constantly viewed and supported through a deficit perspective.

This presentation will focus on how we can learn from the Latinx community at UC San Diego to counter deficit perspectives in academic advising as well as acknowledge what Latinx students value and offer, instead of identifying what they presumably lack.

Advising for the T in LGBTQIA+

Registration link: HERE

Presenters: Mya D. Hines and Cindy Hsu (Muir College)

Description: It’s Friday afternoon towards the end of the quarter and you are physically, mentally and emotionally exhausted. You’ve just completed yet another hectic week of advising all the while trying to keep a healthy work-life balance. Your supervisor has announced they want your entire advising team to incorporate more equity work within your work activities but hasn’t identified exactly how. Where is there room to do equity work when you are barely managing your daily tasks while concurrently dealing with personal life challenges? How do you create space and time for equity-minded work? Engage in a powerful yet liberating discussion about how to identify and prioritize equity work during inequitable times.

Advising the Generation of Tomorrow

Date:  Tuesday, August 16, 2022 | 2:00 PM - 3:00 PM

Location: Virtual - Zoom link will be sent to registered guests.

Registration link: HERE

Presenters: Jenn Coplea

Description: Communication strategies, mental health, and technology are all buzzwords in working with current college students. The presentation will feature characteristics of Gen Z, the population where most current college students are categorized, and showcase best practices in communication and utilizing technology. Mental health has highly impacted college students prior to COVID, but the need for resources and staff training significantly increased over the last two years.

This presentation will also highlight signs and symptoms of mental health, and strategies advisors can utilize online, in-person, one-on-one, or in group sessions with students.
